Senator Vest thinks that Wm. J. Bryan would fit nicely in the U. S. Senate. He would, too.

In 1849 there was one woman practicing medicine in the United States. Now there are about 6,000.

It is said that the name of President McKinley's would-be murderer means in the Polish language, "snake."

Hon. Grover Cleveland is going West to pursue big game. He wants to get a pop at some of the varmints which Roosevelt left.

It is said that Senator Hanna never swears except when he thinks he has reasonable provocation, and then he does it with emphasis.

That New York family which is having a house built with twenty-seven bath rooms in it must have accumulated a great deal of real estate.

A woman out West wants a divorce because her husband plays the trombone. That is the bone of contention. She says she was deceived and didn't know it before her marriage.

It is noted as a remarkable coincidence that just before the President was shot the orchestra was playing, "Cursed Be These Bullets," from the scene in Weber's "Der Freischutz," where they are casting bullets in the forest.

Governor Shaw, of Iowa, says he has not yet made up his mind to enter then race for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. He will probably wait a while to see what encouragement will be given the other fellows.

The mother of the late Secretary of State Gresham lives in Albany, Ind., and is still hale. She celebrated her 98th birthday a few days ago, and not only enjoyed it and entertained her friends, but assisted in preparing the dinner for them.

The wife of a "well known and respected citizen of Newark, N. J., is charged with the grave offence of stealing flowers from graves. She says she is a flower kleptomaniac, and likes them so well that she will got up in her sleep and purloin them.

There are a good many cranks at large in this country. One of them, a preacher in Manchester, N. H., said in his sermon last Sunday that the attempt at Buffalo on the President's life was a visitation of Providence because McKinley had an opportunity to suppress the liquor traffic in the Philippines and didn't do it.

A Reunion at Mount Olive.

Raleigh News and Observer: Capt. C. B Denson has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at a reunion of Confederate veterans to be held at Mount Olive. The reunion is one of the survivors of Company E, 20th North Carolina, the company commanded by Capt. Denson in the early part of the war. Though it was a very large company originally, there are only thirty members of it now living. It was at first composed almost entirely of cadets from a military school taught by Capt. Denson, near Mount Olive. These cadets, however, were soon detailed for duty elsewhere as drill masters and the company was recruited with men from Duplin and Wayne counties. It went into the service fully equipped at its own expense.

THE COUNTY SCHOOLS

All Have Been Selected and Will Report for Duty Monday, September 30th. A Seven Months' Session—The Prospects Encouraging.

As stated in these columns a few days ago, the public schools of the county will begin their new fiscal year on Monday, September 30th. Indications point to a very large attendance. Professor Washington Catlett, the enterprising and zealous superintendent, says that a seven months term will again be given this year, which is the longest continuous public school session in the State.

A copy of the following official circular letter was mailed yesterday to each school committeeman in the county:

"The Public Schools of New Hanover county will open Monday, September 30th. The committees are earnestly requested to see that everything may be ready for the work. Much depends upon each one's doing his duty to make the coming year the the most successful one in the history of our schools. The community must be aroused to the importance of education. Our libraries must be increased; our school grounds beautified; and our school rooms made attractive and comfortable.

"Superintendent, committeemen and teachers must unite to carry out, in full, the school law and to make our schools the best in the State.

"Yours for success,
"W. Catlett, Supt."

Laurence Sprunt Improving.

Friends in the city were gratified to learn from a telegram received from Mr. James Sprunt at Asheville last night that the condition of his son, Laurence Sprunt, was very encouraging. Physicians now say that with no unfavorable turn or change in his condition for a day or two the boy's recovery is reasonably certain. He is very deaf from his continued illness but his parents and attendants trust that this feature of his indisposition is only temporary, though it may prove permanent. The news yesterday, however, upon the whole was very encouraging.

LOCAL DOTS.

— The massage parlors which were recently opened by Miss Jacque in the Masonic Temple, have been closed and Miss Jacque has returned to her home in Philadelphia.

— W. G. Reaves and wife transferred by deed recorded at the Court House yesterday, to W. A. Sanders and wife for $35, lot near Second and Church streets, the same being 31x33 feet in size.

— Miss Corrinne Butler, of Florence, S. C., who has many friends in Wilmington, was married at Darlington, Monday afternoon, to Mr. Louis B. Gregory, manager of the American Tobacco Company at Florence.

— The alarm of fire at 7:34 o'clock last night from box 18, was on account of a small blaze, as the result of a lamp explosion at the dwelling house of Rebecca Gillom, colored, 908 Schutte's alley. The damage was trifling.

— A valuable dog belonging to Mrs. Fannie Mitchell and known the town over for his amiable and sensible qualities, was killed at Fourth and Market streets, by the hook and ladder truck as it was responding to the fire alarm last night.

— The thirty-three fire alarm boxes of the Wilmington system are being tested by the superintendent. An alarm is sent in from one of the boxes each afternoon. By sending in only one test alarm per day, it will take more than a month to test them all.

THE ASSOCIATION BOYS.

Junior Department of Wilmington Y. M. C. A. Will be Featured This Year. Meeting To-morrow Night.

During the coming fiscal year at the Young Men's Christian Association it is the purpose of the management to give more strict attention to the junior department of the work. It will be under the special supervision of Dr. N. M. Wetzel, the enterprising physical director and assistant general secretary.

It is hoped to increase this class of membership to a great extent and with this end in view a meeting of the junior members will be held to-morrow night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of formulating a membership contest similar to that which proved so signally successful with the older members about a year ago. The contest will last for a month and the membership fee has been fixed at $3.00, including all Association privileges.

The rooms in the building for the juniors are to be handsomely equipped and Dr. Wetzel has arranged for special and improved gymnasium exercises. A concert will be given next Thursday night for the benefit of the junior branch of the Association.

SOME ALDERMANIC CHANGES.

Mr. George Harriss Made Chairman of the Fire Committee—Intimation as to Other Departments.

Mayor Waddell yesterday authorized the announcement that in the future Alderman George Harriss would be chairman of the Fire Committee of the Board of Aldermen instead of the Mayor, who will be pretty busily engaged with his new duties as chairman of the Streets and Wharves Committee.

The fire committee, as now constituted, is composed of Alderman Harriss, (chairman), Mayor Waddell and Alderman VonGlahn.

Mayor Waddell was asked last night if there were other committee changes in pursuance of his intimation at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday night. He said that he had definitely decided upon none but several were under consideration which would be public later if they were made.

There was talk in Aldermanic circles yesterday that Alderman Skinner had been or would be made a member of the Streets and Wharves Committee, vice one of the original members who had signified a purpose of resigning, but this was entirely unofficial.

Captain Sloan's Offices.

Fixtures are being placed in the new offices of Capt. J. H. Sloan, the well known cotton exporter, which are now upstairs in the Kerchner building, No. 114 North Front street. The offices will be very handsome, well ventilated and easily accessible by a stairway leading from Front street at the south corner of the building.

The Cotton Season.

All the railroads entering Wilmington shared in the cotton receipts yesterday, although they were not large and reached only 271 bales, against 663 bales on the same day last season. The quotations remain unchanged on a basis of 8½ cents for middling, against 10½ cents on the same date last year.

Presiding Elder Sick.

The Rev. R. B. John, presiding elder of the Wilmington District, M. E. Church, is sick with malarial fever at the James Walker Memorial Hospital. His numerous friends in Wilmington and in the district hope for his early restoration to health.

TRIAL OF CRACKSMEN

Two Men Before Superior Court at Wadesboro for Serious Offence.

HEARING WILL BE EXTENDED.

Thought to be Persons Implicated in Red Springs and Raleigh Robberies—Able Counsel Are Prosecuting and Defending the Prisoners.

[Special Star Telegram.]

Wadesboro, N. C., Sept. 11.—The Fall term of Anson Superior Court, with Judge Neal presiding, convened on Monday. The cases of State vs. Chas. Ellsworth and Geo. Traylor, the alleged Morven safe crackers, is now in progress. Three indictments are pending against the defendants. The evidence presented to this time traces the defendants from Clio, S. C., at which place a safe was cracked, and places them in Morven on the night of the robbery at that place.

Two or three days will be consumed in the trial of the cases. The prisoners are well dressed and of handsome appearance.

They are represented by Hon. Frank I. Osborne, of Charlotte, and H. H. McLendon, of Wadesboro. The State is represented by Solictor Robinson, Hon. Jas. A. Lockhart and Bennett & Bennett.

Ellsworth and Traylor are thought to have belonged to the band of "yeggmen" or semi-professional safe blowers who entered and robbed the Postoffice at Red Springs, N. C., and the Southern Express Company's office at Raleigh, N. C. They were traced for some time by Postoffice Inspector Jere Connolly, of this city, who formed a correct theory of the manipulations of the robbers and gave an exposition in the newspapers of their possible operations in other sections of the State, all of which came true. For some time, it was sought to have the prisoners transferred to Wilmington for safe keeping, but the authorities at Wadesboro deemed the transfer unnecessary and they were retained there.

Gaylord, proprietor of the Big Wilmington Racket Store, gives notice to the public this morning that his store will be closed to-day for the purpose of marking down $89,000 worth of high grade merchandise, which will be thrown on the market at greatly reduced prices Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Additional clerical assistance has been engaged and the great sale promises to be one of the big events of the week.

Car Shops Are Busy.

The Atlantic Coast Line shops in Wilmington present a busy scene nowadays. Three new vestibule day coaches, three new pattern express cars and one hundred flat cars of maximum capacity are among the recent orders. The usual number of regular freight cars are also being turned out of the shops here at the rate of one and a half a day.

A New Pay Car.

The old private coach of General Manager John R. Kenly of the Atlantic Coast Line, is being over hauled and converted into a car for the pay train, in the shops here. It will be numbered "303," and will take the place of the old pay car bearing that number.

A VESSEL IN DISTRESS.

Norwegian Steamship Linwood Bound for Wilmington at Bermuda.

An Associated Press telegram, dated Bermuda, September 11th, received last night, states that the Norwegian steamship Linwood, 1,056 tons, Capt. Stubbs, which sailed from Pomaron, Spain, August 25th, for Wilmington, put in at that port yesterday in distress. The mate of the vessel is injured.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 12.

TALKING RECIPROCITY.

There are a good many manufacturers in this country, perhaps a majority of them, who realize that we cannot pursue the policy of exclusion always, that other countries will get tired selling to a country which buys little or nothing from them and will trade most with the countries that buy most from them, other things being equal. If under such circumstances we could build up trade in a foreign country or hold it when he had done so we would have to offer such inducements as no other country could offer, such as very low prices, superior quality of goods, &c., but we have not yet reduced the cost of production so much below other countries that we could do that. We have built up the trade we have now in foreign markets by underselling foreign competitors, but this very fact has caused alarm in foreign countries whose manufacturers and other producers have suffered by it, and the result has been agitation in some of them and a demand for such protective measures as would make successful competition from this side impossible.

As a justifying such measures and illustrating their effectiveness, they point to the American protective tariffs which virtually closed our ports against the products of other countries, while our exporters had almost unrestricted entry into the markets of the world, and into the markets of the countries which were barred out of our market by a practically prohibitive tariff. The advisability of such measures has been pretty generally and earnestly discussed in Europe and the German tariff is framed upon these lines. Germany is our second best customer in Europe, and for that matter in the world, for we sell to Europe more of our products, natural and manufactured, than we sell to all the rest of the world combined.

In his speech at the Buffalo Exposition President McKinley voiced the sentiments of these manufacturers when he declared that "the period of exclusiveness must go," that we must adopt a more liberal and inviting policy in our dealings with the nations whose trade we desire and hope to secure and retain. He voiced their sentiments also when he favored a reduction of tariff duties when those duties are no longer necessary for revenue or for the protection of some American industry and substituting therefor reciprocity based on mutual agreements between this and other governments respectively.

The capacity for production has become so great in this country that running full time our manufactories could in half the year in some lines and in a few months more in others produce more than this country could consume, the result of which is that markets must be found abroad for the surplus or the plants must run on short time or be closed up part of the year to prevent overstocking and glutting the market and making American producers dangerous competitors to each other. They could not afford to run on short time or close down as a regular thing, for that would entail serious loss upon them, and it would in addition to that badly demoralize the labor system, for the operatives could not afford to remain idle for a third or a fourth of the year as a regular thing without such an increase in wages as would compensate for lost time, and their employers could not afford to pay that.

This makes foreign markets necessary and gives our manufacturers and other producers a vital interest in them. Without them, and unless our home manufacturing and other enterprises were consolidated into trusts, one trust controlling each line of production, competition would become so keen and the margins of profit so small that only the strongest could survive. It is the foreign markets that relieve congestion and prevent a ruinous competition between our manufacturers. Knowing that the foreign markets are a necessity and that they must be held they realize the necessity of making concessions to the growing feeling abroad against our policy of exclusion, but fearing to have tariff revision become a subject of debate in Congress, lest the pruning knife cut too closely they favor reciprocity, which would let the tariff stand substantially as it is, while each nation could be dealt with separately and our manufacturers retain such measure of production as they might demand.

Mutually satisfactory treaties of that kind are not as easily effected as a sweeping tariff that takes in the nations of the earth, without discrimination, and exempts only such articles as we do not produce or of such limited use that we would not care to produce them if we could. When it comes to forming treaties with one country and giving it concessions that might conflict with another country with which we have trade, we will find more or less trouble in the way and that making reciprocity treaties that will realize expectations as trade promoters will be far from an easy task. There has been talk of reciprocity for twenty years but it has never amounted to much more than talk.

IT WILL BE SLOW WORK.

It is now said that the presence of United States troops and the supervision of this Government will be necessary for eight months yet before the Government of Cuba can be completely turned over to the Cubans. And then doubts are expressed as to whether they can satisfactorily conduct the Government. There are those who emphatically declare that they cannot, and that annexation to this country will become a necessity—not only for Cuba, but for this country, which has become the sponsor for Cuba and whose interests are now more identified with her's than ever before.

Cuba is not a very large territory nor is its population large, but unfortunately it is composed of elements that do not readily assimilate and that have little in common. One portion of this population consists of the descendants of Spaniards, with inherited Spanish ideas and temperaments. They have, perhaps, from proximity to and contact with this country imbibed ideas of larger personal liberty and popular government.

The other element is composed of the emancipated slaves, or descendants of slaves, and occupy somewhat the same relation to the rest of the people that the ex-slaves and descendants of the slaves in the South do to the white people. The Spaniards do not draw the racial distinctions quite as rigidly as the white people of this country do, but the race feeling is there all the same, crops out and will crop out more in the future, and this will be one of the main stimulants to annexation, as an escape from government direct or indirect by the descendant of the African. Even now white Cubans are expressing apprehension at the additions being made to the negro population by importations from other islands to work on plantations, in the mines, on the railroads and elsewhere.

What is here said of the difficulties that confront Cuba applies with still more force to the Philippines, where there is even a more motley and uncongenial population, and where they have not had the advantage of proximity to some other country which might exercise an educating influence upon them, as this country has upon the more progressive Cubans, so that even under the most favorable circumstances that can be imagined it will be many years before either of these peoples will be competent for self-government according to the American conception of government.

RATHER TOO SOON FOR THIS.

There are some partisans so constituted and some organs so conducted that they try to make political capital out of everything that happens from the most ridiculous to the most tragic. They seize even the shooting of a President and try to make political capital out of it, indirectly, of course, but they try it all the same.

We expected this after the attempt on Mr. McKinley's life, but not so soon. We thought they would have the decency to wait until the country had recovered somewhat from the shock of that awful crime, and there was some assurance that the President would survive, but they didn't, they were too eager to seize the opportunity to throw the responsibility for that crime on those who differs politically from them and the victim of the would-be murderer's bullet. We have already read in some Republican papers editorials and contributed articles intimating, if not directly charging, that the murderous attack on the President was as much the result of the editorials and cartoons in anti-imperialist, and anti-trust papers and of speakers who denounced imperialism and arraigned trusts as enemies of the people, as it was of the anarchistic teachings that the rash man learned, which he says impelled and nerved him for the horrid deed.

When Garfield was shot, men of the anti-Conklin faction charged the adherents of Conklin with inspiring the attack, and now when the stricken McKinley lies on his bed slowly recovering from the effects of the shots that were intended to kill, they are already beginning the work of creating the impression that it wasn't so much the anarchistic readings of this deluded man that caused his horrid act, as it was the utterances of editors and speakers who were opposed to the policies which President McKinley represented.

This is the essence of contemptible meanness, but it is characteristic of a certain class of rabid partisans and organs. Fortunately they are comparatively few, but even a few are too many.

Gen. Burt of the regular army, who has recently returned from the Philippines, says although he is in reasonably good health he does not expect to live to see quiet restored in those islands, for there is an element in the population which would prefer anything to work. Congressman Hull, who spent some time there, says it will be necessary to keep 40,000 soldiers as peace preservers for a long time.

CURRENT COMMENT.

— Having recovered from his surprise, the numerous man who had a presentiment that the President was going to be shot last Friday is making himself heard through the land. We have an idea that this is the original McKinley man on another tack.—Norfolk Landmark, Dem.

— The Rev. J. B. Lemon, of a Manchester, N. H., church, said yesterday that God had smitten the President because of his failure to suppress the liquor traffic. When it is stated that whiskey is absolutely necessary to sustain the President and his wife in their present afflicted state, that Lemon is sufficiently squeezed.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

— During the last thirty-seven years every fourth President has been shot by an assassin, and to keep the record from rising to one in three it is necessary to count the Vice Presidents who have succeeded to the office as a result of the assassin's work. It looks as if the Presidency of the United States were the post of greatest danger in the world.—Jacksonville Times-Union, Dem.

— The game of diplomacy as played by Russia is almost equal in cleverness to the diplomatic tricks depicted in novel writing and melodramas. The court of St. Petersburg is credited by the Chinese as the real benefactor of the Chinese ambassador, Prince Chun, who is now at the court of Berlin, having finally apologized for the murder of Von Ketteler. It is a succession of just such clever diplomatic moves that gives the Russians their overwhelming influence at Pekin. As it is now, the entire episode, that was supposed by Germany to be an affair that would greatly elevate the Germans in the eyes of the Chinese, has been turned into an additional humiliation for the Berlin court, and whatever of credit has existed in the matter has been skilfully absorbed by the Slav diplomatic corps.—Baltimore Herald, Ind.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the Doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slep easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. — The New Reporter Again: Always, said the astute city editor to the new reporter, always be on the lookout for any little touch of humor that may brighten up our columns. That evening the new reporter turned in a story about a burglary in a butcher's shop which commenced: Mr. Hiram Cleaver, the well-known butcher, is losing flesh rapidly these days.—Baltimore American.

— Suburban Sabbath—Stranger—Your congregation was rather small to-day. Minister—Yes; they only promise to come, "weather permitting." Stranger—But it was clear. Minister—Well, they mean if it rains they'll come. If it is clear they play golf and go fishing.—Chicago News.

— "Now that you've inherited half a million you'll reform, of course," said the good man. "Well, I shall certainly never be a thief again," replied the hardened criminal. "Ah! but the old habit. Do you think your good fortune will change that?" "Sure. It will make it kleptomania."—Philadelphia Press.

— Old Gentleman—"My friend, what do you do with your wages every week—put part of them in the savings bank?" Bus Driver—"No, sir; after paying the grocer, butcher and the rent, I pack what's left away in barrels; I don't believe in savings banks."—Tit-Bits.

— A gentleman who is no longer young, and who never was handsome, asked his son's child what he thought of him. The boy's parents were present. The youngster made no reply. Well, so you wont tell me what you think of me? Why wont you? 'Cause I don't want to get licked, replied the sprig of a rising generation.

An old negro in a neighborhood town arose in prayer meeting and said: "Bredderin and sisterin, I been a mighty mean nigger in my time. I had a heap er ups and downs, specially downs, since I j'ined de church. I stole chickens and watermillins, I cussed, I got drunk, I shot craps, I slashed odder coons wid my razor, and I done er sight er odder things; but, t'ank the good Lawd, bredderin and sisterin, I never yet lost my religion!"—Blue Ridge (Ga.) Post.

The Moving Plant.

A very queer plant belongs to the pea family and is called the "moving plant" on account of the manner in which its leaves turn around of their own accord or go by jerks, without being touched or in any way disturbed. Sometimes only one or two leaves on a plant will be affected; at other times they will all perform jumps and gyrations simultaneously. It is observed that the movements are most energetic when the thermometer marks about 80 degrees.

Why France Lags Behind.

Frenchmen do not want to rule; they want to live. The pursuit of life, of laughter, of charming sensations, of intelligent apprehensions, of individual development of character—it may all be more important, more vital to human existence than the preoccupation to rule oneself and others, to make laws and to fight.—Steevens' "Glimpses of Three Nations."

The Single Thought.

"Ah," sighed the fond mother, "two souls with but a single thought!"

"Yes," echoed paterfamilias, "and less than one dollar. I don't know how they're going to make it, Mary, unless—er—perhaps that single thought they've got is that papa's going to put up for two."—Denver Times.

Ancient Skyscrapers.

The idea prevails that skyscrapers are of modern American origin, but Professor Lanciani declares that in ancient Rome, as early as the time of Augustus, buildings 10 or 12 stories high were common. Later they are believed to have been much higher, rivaling our most modern apartment building in size and height. It is well known that at Constantinople the Emperor Constantine found his view of the water cut off by the skyscrapers erected between his palace and the water front, though he had placed his palace on high ground.

A Matter of Dialect.

An elderly Scotsman was tried for a slight offense and was put in prison. The warder handed him a pail of water next morning, with the remark, "That's to clean your cell." What was his astonishment on returning to find Sandy, who had divested himself of his clothing, having a bath.

"Good gracious!" exclaimed the warder. "What are you doing Sandy?"

Sandy (turning round quite innocently)—Didn't ye say it was to clean masel?—Pearson's Weekly.

The Right Side.

"I wouldn't fight, my good man," said the peacemaker.

"But he called me a thief, sir!" exclaimed one of the combatants.

"And he called me a lazy loafer!" cried the other.

"Well," said the peacemaker serenely, "I wouldn't fight over a difference of opinion. You may both be right."—Tit-Bits.

Why She Wanted It.

Mr. Bowers—I don't see why you want to spend money for a new thermometer when we have a half dozen already.

Mrs. Bowers—But this one has a barometer, and barometers are so handy. See, it says "rain," and just look how it is raining!—Puck.

Sarcastic.

He looked about 7 years old, and he sat beside his mother in a Broadway car one day last week. "He's 4," remarked the mother as the conductor held out his hand for the fare. With never a smile, "Is he married?" asked the conductor.—New York Sun.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Fayetteville New Era: We are pained to chronicle the death of Mrs. Isabella McMillan, wife of Mr. D. A. McMillan, which occurred at their residence Monday night in the 80th year of her age.

— Kinston Free Press: Dave Mitchell, the negro who was shot by an unknown white man at the depot here last Sunday night, is improving slowly. Though the chances are very much against him he may recover.

— Monroe Journal: The house of Mr. Walter Abernathy, who lives near Mattews, was destroyed by fire last Friday morning before day. The fire had gained good headway before it was discovered but most of the household goods and furniture were saved.

— Statesville Landmark: J. F. Austin, the ex-preacher and labor agitator, was last week convicted of larceny in Rowan Superior Court and sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary. An appeal was taken and Austin, in default of $300 bond, was committed to jail pending the appeal. When Austin was sentenced he indulged in a harangue in which he denounced almost everything and everybody. He criticised Solicitor Rush and Mr. B. F. Long, who assisted in the prosecution, and also criticised his own counsel's conduct of the case. — A gentleman whose veracity is unquestioned was telling last week of a man in Alexander county who ate a thirty-two pound water melon a few days ago. The circumstances which brought the man's eating capacity to the test were these: He was financially broke and the owner of a load of melons wagered him a thirty-two pounder against two days' work that he could not eat the melon there and then. The hungry man ate the melon, and who will argue that he didn't weigh more after eating than he did before?

— Raleigh News and Observer: Mr. R. T. Liverman has discovered a new variety of cotton on his farm, near Roxobel, which promises to be the most prolific in fruitage of all the varieties now cultivated. Mr. Liverman does not know how to account for its existence, but expects to pay special attention to saving the seed. — The National Marble Company, of Murphy, Cherokee county, was Monday incorporated by the Secretary of State with $500,000 capital stock. It may, however, commence business with $260,000. — It is said that the Cumnock coal mines, in Chatham county, will be re opened in the near future and operated by a large force of hands. — It is claimed by leading members of the North Carolina Farmers' Alliance that the movement to unite the cotton growers of this State in a fight against the cotton oil trust is growing rapidly. It is aided by the news from New Orleans that the oil mills have united in a movement to reduce the price of cotton seed 50 per cent. — The mortuary report for Raleigh for August shows that there were twenty deaths—ten white, ten colored. Of these, twelve were of children under five years. Only two white adults died; one over eighty, and both of lung disease. Only one new case of typhoid fever was reported. There were two cases of scarlet fever. There were twenty-four births.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Sept 11.—The market for cotton futures opened quiet, with prices one to three points lower, and almost immediately developed a weak undertone, following pessimistic cables from European markets and receipts of selling orders from the South, abroad, the public and from Wall street. This pressure was on the market pretty much all the forenoon and at no time did prices give the least indication of rallying. In addition to the cable news, crop accounts from the eastern belt were considerably better than the average of late. But while these factors tended to undermine confidence of smaller bulls, they did not greatly affect the convictions of leading supporters of the market, who saw in the enormous sales of print cloths in New England mills (800,000 pieces at an advance of ⅛@⅛c for regulars), visions of an active business in goods throughout the Fall and Winter. At noon the market had every appearance of being sold out. There was little or no long cotton offered and selling for short account was being done with a sparing hand. Early in the afternoon covering by several of the leading bears started a small scare of the short contingent as a whole and prompted brisk new buying for a reaction. On this demand prices shot up to above last night's final bids with October at one time selling 7.65 and January at 7.69. Belief that Liverpool to-morrow would be higher on the trade reports from this side helped to create distrust among shorts. Business was brisk all the late session with wire houses and commission brokers supporters of the market. New Orleans and Wall street also bought cotton freely. The market was finally steady with prices net unchanged to two points higher.

Cotton futures market closed steady, as follows: September 7.62, October 7.63, November 7.64, December 7.65, January 7.66, February 7.66, March 7.68, April 7.69, May 7.71.

OVER A PRECIPICE.

When Death Comes In This Manner, It Is Said to Be Robbed of All Its Terrors—Rapidity With Which the Mind Acts In Such a Case.

Scientists say life contains few experiences more agreeable and enjoyable than falling over a precipice or slipping into a glacier crevasse. Even the landing which many plungers through space have found a bit unattractive is said to be free from anything of pain or terror. Merely a jar and then unconsciousness.

In a lecture delivered by Professor Heirn, the geologist of Zurich and an ardent Alpine tourist, he cited his own experience to prove that death by falling contains horror and pain only for the observer, not for him who falls. He said:

"A party of us, all good climbers, went in 1871 from Santis toward the Seealp. I was in front. Near the Fehlalp, at a height of about 6,000 feet, we came upon a steep snowfield which descended at a sharp incline between two rocky points. The others hesitated, but I started at once to slide standing down the incline. I slid rapidly. A gust of wind took my hat. Instead of letting it go I made the mistake of trying to grab it. This motion caused me to fall, and I could no longer control my course. With the speed of the wind I slid toward the left rock, struck on its edge and plunged head first over a 65 foot precipice and landed on a snow pile at its foot. As soon as I stumbled when my hat blew off I saw that I would be dashed over the rock and awaited the shock. I dug my fingers into the snow in the endeavor to stop myself, but merely tore open my finger tips, causing them all to bleed but feeling no pain from so doing. I plainly heard the striking of my head and back against the rock and the thud when I landed. Pain, however, I did not feel until half an hour later, when I revived. During the fall came the flood of thought—what I thought and felt during the five minutes cannot be told in ten times that space of time.

"Every thought and impression was clear, in nowise dreary and confused, and was logically connected with the one which followed. First I contemplated the probability of my fall and said to myself: 'The rock over whose ledge I will be dashed evidently descends sheer, for I cannot see the ground the other side of it. It becomes, therefore, a question as to whether or not there is snow at the foot of the rock. If so, then the snow will be melted near the wall and will form a ledge on which I will land and thus escape with my life. If not, then I will strike on rocks below, and death will be unavoidable. If I am not killed and am not unconscious, I must at once take out a little vial of liquor which on starting from Santis I didn't leave in the tourist's bag, but stuck into my vest pocket, and must drink a few drops of it. My alpenstock I must hold on to, for it may prove of use to me.' I thought that I should take off my snow glasses and throw them away for fear they might be broken and the splintered glass get into my eyes, but the position in which I was falling prevented my moving my hands sufficiently to do this.

"Another train of thought busied itself with the effect my fall would have upon my companions. I said to myself that when I landed, no matter whether I was hurt or not, I must if possible call out with all my might, 'I am in nowise injured,' in order that my comrades—my brother and three friends—might rouse themselves from their terror and be able to make the difficult descent necessary for the bringing of assistance to me. I also thought that I would not be able to deliver the lecture which five days later was to mark my entrance into the professorship. I realized how the news of my death would shock my family and in thought tried to console them.

"Then I saw as if upon a stage my entire life pass like a series of tableaux before me. I saw myself as the chief actor. Everything seemed glorified as by some heavenly light, and all was beautiful and free from pain, from anxiety and sorrow. Even the memory of sad events was distinct, but not sad. There was no struggle, no strife. Exalted and beautiful thoughts dominated and connected the single scenes, and a divine quietude sank like sweet music into my soul. Ever more and more plainly I felt myself surrounded by a heaven of glorious blue filled with clouds of rose color.

"I sank gently and painlessly into it and saw that I was flying through the air toward a field of snow. Objective observations, reasoning and subjective feeling were indulged in clearly and simultaneously. Then I heard a small thud, and my fall was ended. At the same moment it seemed to me that a black object rushed by me, and I called two or three times as loudly as I could, 'I am in nowise injured.' I took some drops of the liquor. I reached out for my snow glasses which lay unbroken beside me on the snow. I felt of my back and my limbs to see that no bones were broken. Then I saw my comrades coming slowly, cutting their way step by step down the snowfield near the rock over which I had fallen.

"I could not understand how it happened that they had already come so far down the incline. They told me that for over half an hour I had been silent and had not answered their call. From this fact I know that when I struck I lost consciousness. Every sensation, every activity of mind and nerve, was annihilated for half an hour. The black object which passed me was the passing of unconsciousness, which evidently had taken place a fraction of a second later for the eye than it had for the brain. And without realizing this half hour interruption thought and activity had been resumed exactly where they had stopped. Between the stopping and resuming was an absolute subjective vacuum. The beautiful heavenly visions were noticeable only during the time that I was flying through the air and could see and think."

Professor Heirn said at the close of his lecture: "We thus reach the conclusion that death by falling is subjectively a beautiful death. Without any previous illness or suffering it occurs when one is fully conscious, when mental activity is abnormally increased and without any anxiety or pain. The unconscious state is entered suddenly and without suffering, and to him who is in this state a second and a thousand years are equally long and equally short. They are as naught. Death brings to the unconscious one no further change—the absolute peace and painless oblivion remain unaltered. Terrible a death by falling can be only when it does not follow quickly."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Corpse In the Game.

When the plague was prevalent in India, search parties went through the villages inspecting the houses with the idea of seeing that all cases of death by the plague were reported to the authorities. On entering a suspected house one day the inspectors saw a group of natives playing cards. Something in the appearance of one of the players attracted the attention of one of the inspectors, who placed his hand upon the man's shoulder. To his amazement the man swayed and fell to the floor.

Upon examination it was found that he had been dead some time, but in order to avoid having the house marked as plague stricken the other inmates had concealed the fact of his death. Hearing that the inspecting party was approaching, they had hastily placed the body in a chair and put some cards in the dead hands. Then they had gathered about him as if both the quick and the dead were engaged in a game of cards.

A Queer Fish.

There is a quaint little fish which haunts the weed tracts of the gulf streams and there builds its nest and lays its eggs like a bird rather than a fish. This animal, the antennarious, imitates in color the weed it lives in and, like the chameleon, constantly changes its color.

Bullfighters Afraid of Cows.

It will probably not surprise our readers to hear that most Spanish bullfighters object to fighting cows. The real reason may, however, astonish them. A sportsmanlike objection to persecuting a female animal has nothing whatever to do with it. The fact is that the average toreador is sincerely afraid of a cow.

And he has good reason. The cows of the half wild breed used for the arena are much quicker in their movements than are the bulls. Their horns are more pointed and more formidable. They do not lower their heads to the ground, shut their eyes and charge like a locomotive upon the rails, but are alert and ready to follow every movement of their persecutors. Their warlike tactics have been adapted not to blind, bovine frontal attacks, but to the strategy of active and cunning beasts of prey, of which the human bullfighter is only a feeble mimic. If these cheap idols of the Spanish populace would face young and active wild cows which had just been robbed of their calves, they might perhaps forestall the butcher, but they would, at any rate, do something to earn their laurels.—Pearson's.

An Editor and a Golden Hair.

"One beautiful spring morning an editor found a golden hair lying between the pages of a manuscript," writes Edward Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "The moment he reached the page it gracefully fluttered out. Flushed with excitement, the editor caught it. It was not his hair, he argued, therefore it was not his property. Then, again, he thought, the owner probably lost it and might need it. So he put it back. He was a methodical man, and he replaced it exactly as he had found it. He was not many days older when he received a letter proving by the very hair he had so dexterously caught and conscientiously replaced that he never had read or even opened the manuscript of the writer. Could anything have been a clearer case against the editor? Most certainly not. It was conclusive and final, don't you see?"

And Still She Wept.

"I'se lost my 2 cents!" she wailed.

"Well, never mind. Here are 2 cents," said the friend.

Soon Toto was crying harder than ever. "What's the matter now?" she was asked.

"I'm crying because if I hadn't lost my 2 cents I'd had 4 now!" was her reply.—Detroit Free Press.

Cold Steel or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerve back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 12.

NO PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT.

President Shaffer Says the Battle of the Steel Strikers Will Go On Until the Workers Win.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 11.—While stories of a peaceful settlement of the strike of the Amalgamated Association were heard to-day with much force and persistency, President Shaffer continued to deny them emphatically, and said that the battle of the steel workers would go on until they won. He denied that the executive board had intructed him to settle the strike on any terms and said that he would not go to New York or make any further peace move for the present.

While the president of the Amalgamated Association was standing in this position, the officials of the steel corporation were putting forth actual efforts to start their plants. This was particularly the case on the south side. During the day the company held the strikers' pickets back by a show of police and got a lot of provisions, cooking utensils and cots for the men to sleep on into the Monongahela plant of the American Tin Plate Company. It was officially announced at the same time that there was an ample number of men ready to enter the plants and start the mills as soon as they were in readiness.

While the strikers were busy watching these movements on the south side, the officials of the same company showed greater activity about the Star mills. About 11 o'clock in the morning, a car loaded with skilled men for the Star plant arrived at the Union station. These men were taken to the plant without any interference from the strikers, as none were about at the time. The efforts of to-day, it is believed, have practically ended all possibilities of the Amalgamated Association ever getting back the Star mills into their control, as the men who have gone to work there have declared their intention of remaining as individuals for all time.

VESSELS IN COLLISION.

Schooner Helen G. Mosely Run Down and Badly Damaged by a Steamer.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The coastwise schooner Helen G. Mosely arrived to-day from Fernandina with a full cargo of lumber. She presented a damaged appearance coming into port, having been in collision with the German steamer Albano, bound from this port for Newport News. Captain Burch, of the Mosely, said that the accident occurred at 1:30 on the morning of September 10th. The weather was clear and the schooner's lights were burning brightly when the steamer came down on her, stove in her bow and ripped her open down below the water line. The bowsprit was cut out of her, bringing down all the head gear, and the foretopmast was broken off above the foremast head and the windlass was also broken. The steamer stood by until daylight. Captain Burch asked the steamer for assistance but the Albano steamed away to the southward paying no further heed to the schooner.

A BIG COAL DEAL.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ROANOKE, VA., September 11.—West Virginia is on the eve of a big coal deal. Some time ago the initial move was made by the purchase of all the coal operations on Kanawaha river. It is said J. P. Morgan was behind it, and that the drafts for the purchase money bore his signature. Hardly had that deal been consummated before it was announced that the Flat Top field had been purchased by the same or allied interests. To-day all the New River territory is agog. Messrs. Chilton, McCorkle & Chilton, representing New York capital, have for the past week been quietly at work and it now turns out that there is not a coal operation on New River on which there is not a twenty-day option of purchase.

Whether or not the purchase will be made will probably be definitely settled to-morrow, as at that time present options will expire and it will require a deposit of $20,000 to renew.

BOERS AND BRITISH.

Kitchener Reports Several Small Engagements With Boer Losses.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

MATJESFONTEIN, CAPE COLONY, Sept. 11.—Colonel Crabbe has surprised the camp of Van der Merwe, the most trusted lieutenant of Commandant Scheeper, killed him and another Boer and made prisoners of thirty-seven out of the one hundred under Van der Merwe's command.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Lord Kitchener reports to the War Office from Pretoria as follows:

"Methuen engaged Vautonder and DeLarey in Great Maries valley September 8th, driving them from a strong position. The Boers left six dead and eighty-one prisoners were captured.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Grand Parade at Cleveland—Several Hundred Thousand People Present.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CLEVELAND, OHIO, Sept. 11.—Notwithstanding lowering clouds that constantly threatened a downpour of rain throughout the morning, the grand parade of the thirty fifth National Encampment of the G. A. R. was viewed by several hundred thousand people. The parade started soon after 10 o'clock and moved for five hours. The thousands of people in the reviewing stands and on the grand stands which lined Bond street in the court of honor saw a continuous parade six or eight miles long pass.

THE PRESIDENT WILL RECOVER.

Nothing Has Occurred to Shake the Faith of the Attending Physicians.

DANGER PRACTICALLY OVER.

The President Continues in Excellent Spirits—No Attempt Will be Made to Remove Him to Washington Until He is Completely Recovered.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The condition of the President continued favorable throughout the day and nothing occurred to shake the faith the attending surgeons and physicians have expressed that he will recover. The danger from two sources was pronounced practically over to-day. The holes in the stomach proper, caused by the perforation of the bullet, are now considered healed by Dr. McBurney and his associates, and the eminent surgeon pointed to the fact that the beef juice fed to the patient last night was readily digested as proof of this. Sufficient time has also elapsed to warrant the doctors in asserting that the danger of inflammation where the bullet lodged has disappeared. It is believed that the ball has now become encysted in the muscles of the back and unless its location should prove troublesome later on, there will never be any necessity for removing it. Dr. Mann, in speaking in regard to this to-day said he knew a man who lived for years with a bullet in the muscles of his heart.

Satisfactory Progress.

The attention of the physicians is now, therefore, mainly directed to the care and treatment of the wound caused by the incision made in the abdomen above the naval when the operation was performed. This wound is progressing satisfactorily.

"Decided benefit followed the dressing of the wound last night," is the way the doctors put it officially. The slight scare which followed the announcement at midnight last night of the opening of the wound did not have a leg to stand on to-day when fuller details of its insignificant character were obtained. The "incident," as it is termed, would not have been mentioned in the history of an ordinary hospital case, and the physicians last night debated for some time upon the propriety of making it public. As they had promised to take the public into their confidence, they finally concluded that the redemption of that pledge compelled them to announce it. Their frankness has already had one excellent effect. It has convinced all who may still have harbored doubts as to whether the public were getting the whole truth from the sick room that their skepticism was unfounded.

Evidences of Improvement.

Another mile-stone passed on the road to recovery, was the discontinuance to-day by the doctors of the figures showing respiration variations in their official bulletins. The President now breathes deeply and normally, and the addition of the respiration was considered valueless in the bulletins. The President's pulse was slightly accelerated in the afternoon, but the change was not deemed material and his temperature remained practically stationary at 100.2 from daylight until dark. The evidences of improvement were the President's keen relish of the beef juice given him during the night and the increase in his allowance from one to three teaspoonfulls and also the fact that the wound is becoming "more healthy."

Dr. McBurney explained this afternoon that the slight irritation of the wound still remaining should pass away within the next twenty-four hours.

In Excellent Spirits.

The President continues in excellent spirits but he confessed to one of the attendants to-day that he was getting lonesome. He requested that he be placed in another bed. A depression had formed in the mattress on which he had lain since he was taken to the Milburn house and had caused some discomfort. Another bed was provided and this evening he was carefully moved from one to the other without diffiulty. He has asked several times if there was any news which he should know, but inquiries, especially about public matters, are discouraged and the rigid inhibition against the admission of any one except his wife and faithful secretary has not been relaxed. It is now virtually decided that no attempt will be made to remove the President to Washington until he has completely recovered and in a general way it can be said that there is no likelihood that this will be until October.

The physicians have all agreed that no attempt should be made to take the President to Washington while the probability of an oppressive hot spell in the capital city remained.

Mrs. McKinley's Fortitude.

Mrs. McKinley still displays the same fortitude she has shown since the tragedy occurred. She went for a drive again to-day and appeared bright and cheerful.

The five members of the Cabinet who are here talked over pending questions for over an hour to-day at the Glenny House, adjoining the Milburn residence, but it is understood that no action resulted. The South American situation was gone over and there was an exchange of opinion regarding the legal phases of the case against

The Would-be Assassin.

It can be stated again in the most positive manner that there is no conflict of authority between the State and Federal authorities for the possession of the prisoner. The members of the Cabinet, Attorney General Knox and Secretary Gage, as well as those who are here, are unanimously of the opinion that Czolgosz's offence is against the State of New York and Erie county and that there is no Federal statute to cover the case. District Attorney Penney consulted Secretary Root to-day as to the procedure. He did not seek Mr. Root's opinion as secretary of war, but as one of the ablest lawyers in New York State. It is understood that the local authorities are only awaiting the result of the shot to formulate their charge against the assailant of the President.

After this afternoon's bulletin Secretary Hay announced that he felt warranted in leaving for Washington, and he left to-night for the capital.

The Last Bulletin.

MILBURN HOUSE, BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The following bulletin was issued by the President's physicians at 10 P. M.:

"The President's condition continues favorable. Blood count corroborates clinical evidence of absence of any blood poisoning. He is able to take more nourishment and relish it. Pulse 120; temperature 100.4."

The Night Conference.

At the conclusion of the night conference the doctors gave another extremely gratifying report of their patient's progress.

The physicians did not begin to leave the Milburn residence until shortly before 11 o'clock. The reports which they had to communicate could hardly have been more gratifying than they were. Dr. Wasdin and Dr. Mynter came out together. The latter was hemmed on all sides by the eager newspaper men.

"Good news! Good news!!" he cried, "nothing but good news.

"We have washed and fed the President and moved him to another bed."

"Is he still improving?"

"He is, and to prove it I desire to say that a count of his blood shows that it is in a normal condition and we feel that we can announce definitely that there is not the least indication of blood poisoning.

He referred the reporters to Dr. Wasdin, of the Marine Hospital Service, who was standing at his side, for a scientific interpretation. The latter explained that a count of the blood was a microscopic examination of the relative number of white and red corpuscles in the blood to determine whether inflammation of any sort existed. An increase of white corpuscles, relatively speaking, would show inflammation and deterioration of the blood that might indicate peritonitis.

EMMA GOLDMAN ARRAIGNED IN COURT.

Remanded to Jail Without Bail to be Held Until Friday, September 19th, for Examination.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, September 11.—Magistrate Prindiville to-day decided that Emma Goldman, the anarchistic lecturer under arrest here, should be held without bail until Friday, pending the decision of similar cases in the Superior Court.

Miss Goldman appeared for a hearing before the magistrate during the forenoon. She had not secured counsel, but in a determined voice declared that she was ready to act as her own attorney. The assistant city prosecutor, however, obtained a continuance of the hearing till September 19th, the date set for the hearing of the other anarchists in custody here. Mr. Owens, the prosecutor, stated that the result of an investigation at Buffalo was being awaited.

The court postponed its decision in the matter of bail, which Miss Goldman demanded the privilege of furnishing, until later in the day. While waiting, Judge Chetlain, in the Superior Court, held the other anarchists until Friday, when, he said, he would hear arguments in the application for writs of habeas corpus. As the charge against Miss Goldman, "conspiracy to murder President McKinley," is the one lodged against the local anarchists, who are named as co-conspirators with Miss Goldman, Magistrate Prindiville thought it wise to await the decision of the higher court. He said it would be necessary for counsel to apply for a writ for Miss Goldman, as he would deal exactly with Miss Goldman as Judge Chetlain did with the other prisoners.

Miss Goldman appeared in court at 9.30 A. M. under escort of Matron Keegan. She seemed surprised that no lawyer was there to take up her defence and glanced uneasily about the room, full of uncouth prisoners and curious spectators. She asked for lawyers Saltiel and Brown. They were not in court and Justice Prindiville said he would wait a reasonable time for them to appear. Although the telephone was kept busy, an hour elapsed and the lawyers were still absent. Chief of Detectives Colleran then demanded that the hearing should proceed. It took only a few minutes and Miss Goldman was led back to her room in the women's annex. She looked tired and nervous. When Prosecutor Owens repeated the charge against her she flushed and then smiled.

When the defendant was escorted back to the court room Justice Prindiville said to her: "Your lawyers do not seem to be inclined to come."

Miss Goldman—"I learn that they are very busy with the other cases, so we will leave it. It does not matter. I can take charge of the case myself."

Prosecutor Owens—"I renew my motion to continue the case until the 19th and that she be held without bail."

Miss Goldman demanded a hearing and asked that she be admitted to bail.

The Court (to Mr. Owens)—"Why do you want a continuance?"

Owens—"The absence of material witnesses. I propose to show that Emma Goldman conspired together with the other nine defendants to assassinate President McKinley, and until such time as we receive further information from Buffalo I ask that your honor continue the case until the 19th, together with all the other defendants. She is charged with conspiracy to kill, and if President McKinley dies she will be an accessory before the fact and the principal, and will be just as guilty as Czolgosz. It is a capital offence, and I do not think the offence is bailable under the circumstances of the case."

The Court—"Well, I will continue it until the 19th. What have you to say about the bail part of it, Miss Goldman?"

Miss Goldman—"I want to be put under bail, as I asked, because I believe the case is a trumped-up charge and has no evidence whatsoever."

Owens—"Your honor, all the other defendants were committed without bail, and if there is any guilt, Emma Goldman is the arch conspirator. She is not entitled to any bail under the circumstances."

After some further discussion the court continued the case and held the question of bail open until afternoon when bail was refused.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Captain Colleran has received a message from Chief Bull, of Buffalo, stating that the requisition papers for Miss Goldman will be forwarded as soon as possible.

Other Anarchists.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Attorney Saltiel appeared before Judge Chetlain just before noon to-day and asked permission to file a petition in habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of the Isaaks and other alleged anarchists charged with having conspired with Czolgosz for the murder of President McKinley.

Emma Goldman was not named in his petition, Saltiel had failed to notify Chief O'Neill, Sheriff Magerstadt and Justice Prindiville against whom the writ was directed and Judge Chetlain ordered him to do so before proceedings could be taken.

Judge Chetlain decided to hold the Isaaks and other anarchists without bail until Friday when argument will be heard on the habeas corpus proceedings.

Joseph H. Wright, postmaster at Nome, Alaska, has been placed under arrest, on the charge of embezzling $4,000. The money taken consisted of money order funds.

COURT OF INQUIRY CONVENES TO-DAY

Howison Will Serve Unless His Associates Decide He Is Disqualified.

NO SUMMONS FOR SAMPSON.

Court Will Meet at One O'clock This Afternoon—Admiral Schley's Counsel Will Challenge the Competency of Rear Admiral Howison.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—All the members of the Schley court of inquiry are now in Washington, Rear Admiral Howison, the third member arriving last night. To-day Admiral Howison paid a formal call, as required by naval etiquette, at Admiral Dewey's residence on Rhode Island avenue. Admiral Dewey, however, did not come to town to-day, but remained in his country home. Admiral Howison then went to the Navy Department. He had called upon Acting Secretary Hackett last night, and the only other formal call required of him was to visit the judge advocate general, Capt. Lemly, which he did.

Rear Admiral Howison was extremely guarded in answering inquiries respecting the court of inquiry. He said it would not be proper to say anything for publication in advance of the meeting of the court as to his own intentions or probable line of action of the court. It was evident, however, that he has not in any degree altered his resolution to serve as a member of the court if the other members accept his own view as to his qualifications. He adheres to the views set down in his letter to Acting Secretary Hackett that it is the duty of a naval officer to accept without question a call for service upon a court of inquiry or a court martial and although such duties were not the sort promising pleasant occupation they were not to be evaded by any act of the person whose service is required. Therefore, Rear Admiral Howison will by no act of his to-morrow seek to escape duty on the court of inquiry, and if he should not serve it will be because Admiral Dewey and Rear Admiral Benham feel that he is disqualified to act as an impartial judge. Everything is ready for the meeting of the court.

Large Number of Witnesses.

The impression at the Navy Department now is that the taking of testimony will not begin to-morrow, although that was the original expectation. A large number of witnesses are in Washington ready to take the stand at a moment's notice, but formalities are expected to consume most of to-morrow's session which, after all, is likely to be short, owing to the late hour of beginning. No summons has yet been issued for Admiral Sampson and it is said very few formal summons have been issued by the department. Although no positive statement on that point is made, it is gathered from the attitude of the government officers that they have no present intention of calling Admiral Sampson.

While observing all the forms that are necessary to maintain the dignity of this court, there is no disposition on the part of its members to try to magnify its importance by useless ceremony. There will be no waste of gunpowder in salutes nor will the marines be turned out in state at the navy yard as the three admirals make their way to and from the building where the court will meet.

Order of Procedure.

At 1 o'clock, order having been called, the judge advocate will address the court and read the precept under which it is convened.

The next step will be the recognition of counsel by the court, and Captain Lemly then will introduce Mr. Hulse as the official stenographer.

Then will come the most interesting part of the day's proceedings, namely, the challenging by Admiral Schley's counsel of the competency of Rear Admiral Howison as a member of the court. They will reiterate the charge as to the question—opinion adverse to Admiral Schley alleged to have been expressed by Admiral Howison—and it will be the object of counsel to support this charge by affidavits and perhaps by oral testimony. It is for the court to say whether such testimony will be admitted, and the expectation is that an hour or two will be consumed in argument by counsel, directed to the two members of the court whose competency is not questioned.

Admirals Dewey and Benham then will retire and determine whether or not the statements presented are sufficient to make manifest the incompetency of Rear Admiral Howison. There will be no appeal from the decision by the court on this point. Even the secretary of the navy could not undo its work. Captain Francis A. Cook, who commanded the Brooklyn during the West Indian campaign, probably will be the first witness.

Admiral Schley's counsel to-night completed the formal challenge to Admiral Howison. This is a very brief document, and according to counsel will be supported by several witnesses who will be ready to appear to-morrow, including Mr. Frost, of the Boston Record, which printed the alleged interview of Admiral Howison. The names of the other witnesses who are expected by the Schley counsel to substantiate the authenticity of the Howison interview, and who are expected to arrive in the city by to-morrow morning, are withheld for their appearance before the court.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

No Action Taken to Secure Possession of Emma Goldman—The Paterson Anarchists.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The Department of Justice has not decided upon any steps to secure possession of Emma Goldman for the purpose of taking action against her in the Federal courts. She was arrested by the Chicago police on the request of the Buffalo authorities and it is supposed by the Department of Justice that she will be taken to New York State. The Secret Service authorities state that she was not arrested at their request and that they have no idea of proceeding against her unless directed by the Department of Justice to do so or unless they secure testimony showing that she was involved in the shooting of the President.

Chief Wilkie said to-day that so far he has not secured any evidence tending to show that the anarchist bodies at Paterson, N. J., had anything to do with the shooting of the President.

Chief Wilkie denied in most positive terms the report that his office had received warnings that the President's life would be attempted at Buffalo.

ANOTHER COURT OF INQUIRY

A Sensational Termination — Serious Charges Against Col. Robt. L. Meade of the U. S. Marine Corps.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, September 11.—The longest court of inquiry in the history of the navy, that held at the Brooklyn navy yard to investigate trouble in the marine corps, has come to a sensational termination, bringing in a recommendation which may result in very serious consequences for an officer of high rank. Major C. H. Lauchheimer and Colonel F. L. Denny charged Colonel Robert L. Meade with drunkennes on duty, while an inspection was in progress at the Brooklyn navy yard. Colonel Meade replied by charging Major Lauchheimer with making a false report and Colonel Denny with reporting against him (Meade) in order to cover up irregularities with contractors on Denny's part.

The court of inquiry acquitted Major Lauchheimer and Colonel Denny of Colonel Meade's charges. It sustained the charge against Colonel Meade and in addition charged him with violation of the naval regulations in replying with a counter charge when asked for a report, and also of false swearing on the witness stand. The court recommended that the colonel be tried by court martial upon these charges.

The court lasted four weeks, breaking all naval records for a court of inquiry. In addition it was marked by an extraordinary event in the fact that on the 15th day of the trial Commander West, a member of the court, was challenged by Major Lauchheimer and required to withdraw from membership by his colleagues. The reasons for the challenge sent out by Major Lauchheimer was that Commander West was, by friendship for Colonel Meade, unable to act impartially.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR.

Fighting Likely to Occur at La Hacha, Where Colombian Troops Are Awaiting Attack by Venezuelans.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

WILLEMSTAD, ISLAND OF CURACOA, Sept. 11, (via Haytien cable.)—The French cruiser Suchet, which left Porto Colombia, near Barranquilla, September 5th, arrived here yesterday. On her way here she stopped at La Hacha, a town at the mouth of the Rio Hacha, situated in Colombia, on the west side of the Guajira peninsula, about one hundred miles northwest of Maracaibo. The Suchet brings a report that the steamer Alexandre Bixio landed a thousand Colombian troops from Barranquilla and Cartagena, at La Hacha, September 9th. The Venezuelan gunboats Zumbador and Myranda and two others were off La Hacha. They were visible from the town, the inhabitants of which daily expected Venezuelan troops to be landed at or near La Hacha. The Colombian troops were awaiting an attack. Within the last week the Colombians at La Hacha have received considerable reinforcements.

The Colombian gunboat Gen. Pinson was seen September 9th off La Hacha, but immediately upon the arrival of the four Venezuelan gunboats the Pinson put about and steamed away. The officers of the Suchet believe that fighting is likely to occur at La Hacha.

MEETING OF EMPERORS.

The Kaiser and the Czar Embrace Each Other in Perfect Weather.

By Cable to the Morning Star

HELA, PRUSSIA, Sept. 11.—The meeting between Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William was favored with perfect weather. The Hohenzollern, flying the German and Russian imperial standards, welcomed the Standart with an imperial salute, which the Standart returned, both crews dressing ship, while the bands played the Russian and German national anthems.

The Kaiser received the imperial visitor at the gangway, where the two monarchs embraced each other. They then inspected the guard of honor together, after which they retired to the quarter deck, where they remained in animated conversation until luncheon.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Sept. 11.—The Southern Association of Railroad Commissioners in session here to-day adopted resolutions tendering to President McKinley the sympathy of the association and of the people of the South, congratulating the country that the South has no safe abiding place for anarchists, and urging that "Congress should without delay pass such laws as it may be authorized to do, making it a felony and punishable with deportation or imprisonment at hard labor for persons to assemble in any State of the Union for the purpose of discussing and proclaiming sentiments of anarchy and conspiring against our form of government."

A KENTUCKY KILLING.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ROANOKE, VA., Sept. 11.—A special from Freeling, Dickenson county, says:

News has just reached here of the killing of James Kelly, a noted outlaw of Pike county, Kentucky, a few miles from here. The intelligence received is in effect that Kelly went to William Isom's drunk and disorderly, and one of the Isom boys shot him twice in the breast with a Winchester, which resulted in instant death. The Isom boy left immediately. Serious trouble is expected to grow out of the affair, as Kelly has friends there who will doubtless seek revenge. The affair has created quite a sensation.

PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Governor Jennings, of Florida, escorted by the Tampa Light Infantry and thirty-five members of the Florida press association, arrived in Buffalo to-day to take part in the Florida Day exercises to-morrow. The Illinois commission has given the Florida delegation the use of the Illinois building, as Governor Jennings is an Illinoisan by birth. Fully four hundred people came from Florida on other trains to take part in to-morrow's exercises.

CATARRH

or inflammation of this delicate pink membrane.

The system is weakened in winter. The delicate lining is more susceptible to irritation or inflammation, and thus we have pneumonia, grip, colds, coughs, fevers, etc., all catarrhal conditions which may easily be checked by one catarrh cure—Pe-ru-na.

That's the only way out of it. You may dose forever—you will not be well until you try the true cure and that is Pe-ru-na. You may think your trouble is some other disease and not catarrh. Call it what you will, one thing is sure, your system is affected and must be treated, and Pe-ru-na is the only remedy which reaches the right place and does cure.

"The platform of the Free Society was also added to the cumulative evidence of the anarchist conspiracy yesterday. This document binds its members together to advocate and work for the destruction of the existing social order."
